- Policies that support effective scarcity pricing mechanisms which would allow generation, transmission and demand response to compete on equal footing.
- Capacity markets as a tool to encourage long term capital investments in existing as well as new generation resources.
- Real opportunities for consumers to participate in the market through demand response, energy efficiency and other consumer-driven programs.
- Stable state and regional retail policies, such as default procurement auctions, that leverage the benefits of wholesale competition.
- The development and promotion of renewable and alternative energy generation within the framework of a competitive market.
- The continuous improvement of "seams" issues both with regions surrounding PJM.
- A common set of environmental standards (air and water) throughout the PJM footprint that take into consideration reliability and price.
